

ArchivesSpace

Douglass (Frederick) Book Research Collection

An inventory of Frederick Douglass Book Research at DC Public Library

This finding aid was produced using ArchivesSpace on September 27, 2018.

English

Describing Archives: A Content Standard

Stage

Table of Contents

Summary Information 3

Biographical / Historical 3

Scope and Contents 4

Administrative Information 4

Collection Inventory 4

 Series 1 4

Summary Information

Repository:	Stage
Title:	Frederick Douglass Book Research Collection
ID:	148
Date [inclusive]:	1869-2012
Physical Description:	0.5 cubic feet; 1 box
Language of the Material:	English
Language of the Material:	English
Language of the Material:	English
Abstract:	The Frederick Douglass Book Collection documents John Muller's research for the book Frederick Douglass: The Lion of Anacostia published in 2012. Files include copies of Douglass' letters, speeches, speeches by others, pamphlets, and biographies of figures Douglass was close to.

^ Return to Table of Contents

Biographical / Historical

This collection contains the research conducted by John Muller for his book Frederick Douglass: The Lion of Anacostia published in 2012. Frederick Douglass spent his last two decades of life in Washington, D.C. Muller explores how Douglass spent his life, professionally and personally in his Anacostia home, Cedar Hill. The ever-active Douglass was involved in local politics: from aiding in the early formation of Howard University to editing a groundbreaking newspaper to serving as marshal of the District. This will be the first work to look into Douglass' years as a leading citizen of Uniontown when he served as US Marshal, Trustee to Howard University, was a frequent presence at Metropolitan African Methodist Episcopal Church, and shook up his family and society by marrying Helen Pitts in 1884. During this time, his wife of 44 years, Anna Murray, passed away, and 18 months later, he married Helen Pitts, a white woman. Douglass continued his advocacy for the rights of African Americans and women. Douglass attended a church in Hillside until the evening of his death on February 20, 1895.

^ Return to Table of Contents

Scope and Contents

The Frederick Douglass Book Collection documents John Muller's research for the book Frederick Douglass: The Lion of Anacostia published in 2012. Files include copies of Douglass' letters, speeches, speeches by others, pamphlets, and biographies of figures Douglass was close to.

^ Return to Table of Contents

Administrative Information

Publication Statement

Stage

Conditions Governing Use

Some material may be copyrighted or restricted. It is the patron's obligation to determine and satisfy copyright or other case restrictions when publishing or otherwise distributing materials found in the collections.

Custodial History

Gift of John Muller, 2013.

^ Return to Table of Contents

Collection Inventory

Series 1
Title/Description	Instances
Anacostia Historic District Pamphlet, 2010	Box 1	Folder 1
Neighborhood News - Visiting Fredrick Douglass House, 2010	Box 1	Folder 2

Frederick Douglass - the Lion of Anacostia Flyers, undated	Box 1	Folder 3
Frederick Douglass' Washington: The Lion of Anacostia Text/ Draft, undated	Box 1	Folder 4
Mark Twain Project, 2012	Box 1	Folder 5
Frederick Douglass Papers Vol. Speeches and Lectures John Blassingame, 1871-1875	Box 1	Folder 6
David Turk Speech - Cedar Hill 2/14/2005, 2005	Box 1	Folder 7
Excerpts: Bios/Autobios Ida B. Wells/Mary Church Terrell/Mary Ann Shadd Cary/Josiah Henson, undated	Box 1	Folder 8
Letters - Frederick Douglass - Papers - Library of Congress, 1869-1895	Box 1	Folder 9
2 Letters from Howard University 7/18/2012 8/6/2012, 2012	Box 1	Folder 10
R.B Hayes Files - Douglass Vertical Files, 1977-1881	Box 1	Folder 11
"Have We a Cause: The Life of Helen Pitts Douglass 1837-1903 by Julie R. Nelson, 1995	Box 1	Folder 12

^ Return to Table of Contents